

AC Butch's Money Management Plan

Always start at the beginning of a new shoe

- Always start with a base bet of 2 units.
- Any time you suffer three losses in a row, sit out the next hand/spin, your next bet can be either the hand/spin that won the bet you sat out on, or you must wait until your preferred side wins a hand. This prevents you from getting caught up in betting against a prolonged streak that's going against you.
- Once you are up seven times your base bet which is 14 units, lock up your original buy in of 28 units, plus four times your base bet, $4 \times 2 = 8$.
- Continue to play with the amount you left on the table; you are now a guaranteed winner for that session. If you continue winning, keep locking up 50% of the new profits as they occur.
- Remember, a small win is better than a loss, get in the habit winning.

The amount of your bet on a losing sequence is as follows based on a 2 units, (28 unit buy in)

- If you are down 1 to 6 units your bet is 2 units
- If you are down 7 to 10 your bet is 3 units
- If you are down 11 to 14 your bet is 4 units
- If you are down 15 to 16 your bet is 6 units
- If you are down 17 to 20 your bet is 8 units
- If you are down over 24 units leave the table, except the loss (maximum loss should be 28 units)
- While you are in a losing cycle, continuously use the above chart to calculate what your next bet will be. Once you go back into a plus figure the cycle is over, start all over again, as though it was your first bet, disregard and don't count in any money you are up from previous bets, always use the above lock up rule when you are in the plus, protect your profits.
- Once you have locked up a profit, only use the money that's left in front of you, never go back into your pocket, you can only bet what's in front of you, no matter what the amount is suppose to be.

Amount to Bet When You're On A Winning Sequence

Win 01 – 2 units
Win 02 – 2 units
Win 03 – 3 units
Win 04 – 3 units
Win 05 – 4 units
Win 06 – 4 units
Win 07 – 6 units
Win 08 – 8 units
Win 09 – 10 units
Win 10 – 12 units
Win 11 – 15 units
Win 12 – 18 units
Win 13 – 20 units

After any lose, go back to your original base bet

AC Butch's Money Management Plan